

Dear Hiring Manager,

Thank you for considering my application for the Music Coordinator freelance position for CBS Sports. I am excited to learn more about this opportunity in the future. For now, I would like to take a moment to mention some strengths I believe to be beneficial for this position:

Adaptability: I have experience learning several different media platforms at the University of Maryland and subsequent extracurriculars and opportunities. For example, I have used WordPress and OptimX for writing and website management. I also have used YouTube and Streamlabs to help facilitate a functional live stream for the University of Maryland ice hockey program. When it comes to learning new technologies for presenting sports and other media in numerous ways, I am always willing to adapt and learn to what program the job is asking me to use.

Collaborative: I work well in groups and always prioritize building positive relationships with my co-workers. During my time with WMUC Sports Radio, I was often tasked to split responsibilities of setting up audio equipment, computer software and writing game notes, and monitoring breaking news updates. Being able to balance these responsibilities with my other broadcasters, crew managers, and other co-workers in future work environments will set me up for many future collaborative successes.

Alongside my passion for sports, music is most definitely a close second. As someone who grew up with an iPod in his hand, I would look forward to fostering relationships with those in the music industry and helping curate great musical content for CBS Sports properties and programs. I am enthusiastic about this opportunity and hope to hear more soon.

Best regards,
Benji Ferraro
